Fair working conditions for employees

Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG attaches a high priority to a stable and reliable working environment which simultaneously provides enough scope for personal development.

A strong corporate culture and innovative structures, with scope for individual action for which employees take responsibility, are the distinguishing features of the company as an employer. Success, job satisfaction and security can be maximized by taking an approach in which each individual has a part to play in shaping the company's future, taking account of the legal requirements.

1. Fair working conditions for happy employees

Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG meets all the regulations of labor law and thus complies with the right of employees to appropriate remuneration. As a family-run company, we consider that we have a particular responsibility for our employees.

The development of social, technical and personal skills is encouraged and training programs are provided insofar as they are in line with the company's interests. Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG, therefore, supports master tradesman's courses and Master's degrees alongside work. Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG is a family-run company with a tradition stretching back over more than 100 years. The satisfaction and motivation of our employees is our greatest asset in ensuring the success of the company, now and in the future. Pursuit of the business interests of the company is always balanced against consideration for the personal interests of its employees. Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG is a pioneer in working models that are compatible with family life. About 25% of the workforce, therefore, works on a part-time basis or with flexible working time models. These arrangements make it possible for employees to be proactive in shaping their working patterns and to apply their skills as effectively as possible in all phases of their lives.

With this practical corporate culture, we create the best possible win-win situation for the company and its employees, which meets all the challenges posed by the digital transformation and demographic change.

3. Safety in the workplace

Compliance with industrial health and safety regulations is the top priority in all our production facilities. Our operational management ensures that all employees working in the company receive careful instruction in the safety regulations. Through internal and external audits, certifications and special programs, the safety standards in our company are improved continuously.

In this way, we guarantee that our business processes are free from accidents and disruptions. In addition, Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG provides a safe working environment in which all of the statutory provisions regarding health and environmental measures are met. Furthermore, Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG promotes all activities that encourage its employees to look after their own physical and mental health.

All forms of forced and child labor are categorically rejected. Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG adheres strictly to legal requirements.

We expect our suppliers, service providers and partners to be equally committed to the guiding principles on respect for human rights formulated by the United Nations, including in their respective supply chains. We use self-disclosure to check suppliers and service providers in critical countries before we even enter into a business relationship and, in part, on-site audits with the particular aim of evaluating issues relating to human rights (e.g. fire safety and industrial safety). All employees are required to report any breaches. If our business partners breach our human rights guidelines, Kleinbongartz & Kaiser oHG explicitly reserves the right to require action to be taken to improve the situation or to end the business relationship.
